Since 1980 the members of Professional Women in Construction have dedicated their energy and resources to advancing the status of women, minority, and disadvantaged business owners and professionals in all aspects of the construction industry. PWC's broad-based membership includes not only construction firms, but also architects, engineers, construction managers, project managers, real estate developers, financial institutions, accountants, insurance and surety representatives, lawyers, public authorities, government, and local agencies.

In 2006, PWC expanded in the metropolitan Washington area. The Capital Region Chapter's inaugural 2007 program year promises an array of networking and educational events. We invite your firm to partner with us as a sponsor.
